The lower interest rate will apply from the day of the 4th withdrawal until the day before the anniversary of your account opening. The rate of interest and withdrawal count will reset on the anniversary of your account opening.

Can Vanquis Bank change the interest rate?

Yes, the interest rate is variable, so it can go up or down. This might be due to changes in market conditions (e.g. change in the Bank of England base rate, changes in competitors' rates), costs of running our business or for ensuring consistency with new customers' rates.

- If the rate increases, we'll make the change immediately and then let you know
- If the rate decreases, we'll let you know at least 14 days before the change takes effect

What would the estimated balance be after 12 months based on a £1,000 deposit?

No withdrawals

Balance after 12 months would be £1,042.50

Based on:

- a deposit of £1,000
- an annual interest rate of 4.25%; and
- no further deposits or withdrawals are made

Four withdrawals

Balance after 12 months would be £988.26

Based on:

- a deposit of £1,000
- individual withdrawals of £10 made 30 days, 60 days, 90 days and 120 days after the account is opened; and
- an annual interest rate of 4.25%, reducing to an annual interest rate of 2.25% from the day of the 4th withdrawal

The above examples show what the future balance of your account would be if:

- one lump sum of £1,000 is deposited on the day the account is opened
- the higher and lower interest rates for the account remain the same for the full 12 months
- interest is paid annually and into your account rather than transferred to your nominated account; and
- no further payments are made in or out of the account other than those stated in the examples above

These projections are provided for illustrative purposes only and do not take individual circumstances into account.
